Memorial Service For Earl Haig

Held Under Auspices of Local Legion in Gordon Memorial

In keeping with similar services held throughout Canada, the local Legion attended a memorial service in Gordon Memorial church last Sunday evening in honor of the late Field Marshal, Earl Haig. There was a good turnout of Legion members and the church was well filled for the occasion. On behalf of the congregation Mr. Matheson welcomed the Legion to the church.

Taking as his text: "A man shall be as the shadow of a great rock," Mr. Matheson likened Earl Haig to the battle field to a rock, because of his bravery and the place he occupied in the hearts of all who served under him. The speaker gave an interesting review of the life of the late field marshal, and his rapid progress in military circles. Reference was also made to the interest taken in ex-service men by the deceased since the war, and of the successful efforts in having all united under one organization. In closing he said this great man died bearing on his brow the laurels of the Empire's gratitude. His was not only revered as a great leader in battle but also because of the nobility of his Christian character. In mourning his loss all men should remember his glorious example.

Appropriate hymns were sung during the service and the choir rendered an anthem which was much enjoyed. On the whole the service was very impressive.

Some Disappointed On Election Day

When Some Found Their Names
Not on Voters' List

In the election last Monday, as in almost all past elections, there were several disappointed people when they arrived at the polling booth and found their names were not on the voters' list and that they could not vote. While this is annoying for those concerned, they have the name to blame but themselves. Due notice was given at the proper time, that the voters' list was being compiled. The list was exhibited as required and all were notified to get their business to see that their names were properly enrolled.

This experience should serve as a lesson to all for the future. The trouble is that too many people take too much for granted. There has seldom been a voters' list in which there have not been some omissions or errors. Provision is made to remedy this but those concerned are the one responsible for seeing that it is done at specified times required by law. Section 217 of the Town Act says this must be done at least seven clear days prior to the date fixed for the election. It was, no doubt, on the authority of this section that Mayor Bott announced at the opening of the poll that the voters' list in the hands of the returning officer was the official list for the election and that no names could be added to it on that day.

To The Ratepayer Of Redcliff

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere thanks and appreciation to all who supported me and helped elect me to the Mayoralty contest last Monday. I trust that during my term of office you will not have occasion to regret giving me the support you did. I trust that I will receive the support and co-operation of all ratepayers in helping to carry on the affairs of the town successfully.

Yours sincerely,

G. H. WORTS

Bott To Protest Mayoralty Election

Owing to rumors which have been in circulation during the past few days, concerning the Mayoralty election, the Review asked Mr. Bott if it was his intention to protest the election. Mr. Bott replied "yes," most emphatically.

The House of Commons yesterday called on the government to consider the question of Canadian rights and bismarckism could enter into it. In presenting the motion it was urged on the government to have coal from Canada sent to Birmingham and there tested.

G. H. Worts Elected Mayor of Redcliff By 24 of Majority

Defeated B. J. Bott Who Has Accupied Position For 14 Years

In one of the keenest municipal elections and with one of the largest largest votes ever polled by a municipal election, G. H. Worts defeated B. J. Bott in the Mayoralty election held last Monday, by 24 votes. The poll stood as follows:

Worts 181
Bott 157

Majority For Worts 24
In all 343 ballots were cast but of them 5 were spoiled. Of the spoiled ballots one had the name of Worts and one had Bott on it; two were blanks and one had a name written on the back.

This was the first election in which counts had a vote, which accounts for the increased number of votes cast.

Mr. Bott has been Mayor for 14 years which is probably a record for western Canada. In his first election he had a large majority with two other candidates in the field. He won three other contests with small majorities. The majority for Worts last Monday was the largest since Mr. Bott's first contest.

At the Town Hall on Tuesday a.m. Mr. Henderson, the returning officer, after Mr. Worts' alerted by 24 of majority.

After all similar elections in the past the defeated candidate and his supporters have accepted the will of the people philosophically and have settled down to business without any hard feeling. It is hoped this one will turn out the same way.

Winter Meeting Of Hat Presbytery

Recommended List to Gordon Memorial to Complete Auditorium

The regular winter meeting of the Presbytery of Medicine Hat was held in the winter-church on Wednesday. A review of the work of the past year revealed a number of interesting facts. By a majority of 11 the Presbytery recognized the devotion of the women of the church, as expressed in the reports of both Women's Missionary societies and Ladies' Aid societies. Every congregation had met its allocation to the Maintenance and Extension fund and a number went beyond, the most notable of these being Eyreton, allocated $60.00 and paid $100.00.

The one item directly affecting the local work was an application by Gordon Memorial for a loan of $800.00 to be used in completing the auditorium of the church. Presbytery recommended the application forward with its unanimous approval.

Presbytery unanimously nominated Rev. E. T. Serag, of 35th Avenue, Calgary for president of the next conference.

At 6:30 the ladies of Westminster church entertained the members of Presbytery to an excellent supper. The minister and Mr. Wm. Henderson represented Gordon Memorial and they report a lucky but unfruitful day.

The evening was pronounced a great success and all who attended are now anxiously looking forward to the Vega's next social.

OUR WINTER WEATHER

A Trying Time For People With Weak Weather Blood

Canadian winter weather is a trying time for debilitated, run-down people. The time of all shut-up houses, lack of out-of-door exercise, the restricted diet of the season, all may do their worst to keep the blood weak and pure and thus avoid winter trouble. There is always in such cases a danger of serious colds, influenza, or the still more dreaded pneumonia. There is no real time of year, when a plentiful supply of rich, red blood is so necessary; and the one way to keep the blood rich and pure and thus avoid winter trouble is to have fresh blood in the system. ## Burbank Gardens To Go

California Eagle Will Be Cut Up

The experimental garden of the late Luther Burbank at Santa Rosa, which for more than twenty years attracted thousands of people from all over the world, are to be cut up into building lots. Mrs. Burbank, widow of the great plant breeder, has decided to sell the garden.

Burbank died in April, 1926, and shortly thereafter a nurse was started to remove his three acres of garden and the buildings thereon. All plans, however, failed.

About one-quarter of the land will be retained by Mrs. Burbank.

New York's Women Workers

Are Making Good in Lines Requiring Hard Manual Labor

Out of over three girls and women in the city of New York, over fourteen years of age, is engaged in manual occupation, according to the reports of the United States Bureau of Census. The rate of men working for salary or wages as compared to women is employed is considerably less than three to one. New York is truly a city of real opportunity for the women of the "wonder race," though judging from the work which many women are doing, the term "wonder race" is a misnomer. There are in the city 691,727 females employed in offices, factories, shops and in almost every branch of work, financial, commercial, professional, which goes to make New York the metropolis of the world. About every body that a man does in the way of work, you will find some woman doing it. In many lines, including some which require hard manual labor, women are making a close run for their work's wages.

Value Of Crop
Annual Value Of Saskatchewan's Crop Placed At Four Hundred Million

"In the field crops of Saskatchewan we have two 'Pis-Pis' annually," said the Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture in the provincial government, speaking on the topic of agricultural development in the province at the Saskatoon Kiwanis club. He told of having read the new paper that the valuation of the crop in Saskatchewan this year had been placed at $400,000,000. While he was not attempting to minimize the value of other industries to Saskatchewan, Mr. Hamilton said, few people realized that the cash value of agriculture in Saskatchewan represented $400,000,000 annually to the people of the province.

Cello Has Own Method
A remarkable dog is owned by a farmer at Bujarg, Argentina. He is a black and white cello and answers to the name of "Loddy." He was witnessed catching a rabbit; but he evidently was sensitive as to the spelling of blood and refused to worry the rabbit to death. Instead, he held his captive to a barn where he held his head under water till it was dead. He has never, the farmer says, done other than devour his rabbits.

The first waterproof cloth was made by a Scotch chemist, Charles Macintosh, in 1823.

Biplane Built For Experimental Purposes

New British Machine To Take "Soundings" Of Upper Air

A new biplane, specially designed for obtaining high altitudes, is now at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, England. In this machine it is hoped to succeed to a great height and obtain "soundings" of the upper air. One theory to be tested is that, at 30 or 12 miles above the earth there are constantly moving currents of air travelling at 200 miles an hour and more. Such upper air tides as these might have a revolutionary influence on long-distance flying. The British machine which is to carry out this test is a British biplane with an air-cooled Jupiter engine specially equipped for maintaining its power in settled air.

It will probably be piloted by Flight-Lieutenant J. A. Gray, one of the most expert of the Government test pilots. For these high-altitude flights pilots are being provided with special air suits and helmets like those of diving suits, the air from peering out through small circular windows. In one new 'plane the air will be enclosed in a glass windowed cabin, which will be automatically supplied with oxygen.

Five Eclipses This Year

Three Will Be Of Sun, and Two Of Moon

For those whose interests centre to some extent in the astronomical world, the new year will satisfy them in that five eclipses are scheduled. Three will be of the sun, and two of the moon, the new year bringing the same number as in 1927. On May 19 there will be a total eclipse of the sun and the previous day, May 18, will not be visible in Canada. June 5 a total eclipse of the moon is forecast which will be visible in some parts of the West. Two weeks later the sun will go into a partial eclipse and on November 12 the performance is repeated. Western Canada will be able to take the word of the scientist for these because they will not be visible in the West. The last eclipse of the year will be on November 27 when the moon will be completely hidden. The eclipses will be visible throughout the North American continent.

Grain Crops In 1928

The prediction has been made from many sources, and with but few reservations, if any, that the year 1928 gives promise of being one of the greatest years of development in Canada's history, marked by unprecedented activity in mining, manufacturing, building, water-power development, transportation, and a rising tide of immigration. Authorities in banking and finance are in unison in declaring that Canada is now in a position to take a giant step forward, and that apart from the financial ability and resources of Canada itself, both British and United States money will be available for second development enterprises.

What of agriculture, the basic industry of Western Canada, and upon the prosperity of which much of the growth and prosperity of all Canadian industry depends?

It is generally recognized that agriculture occupies a stronger position today than it did a few years ago and that conditions have been steadily improving year by year. There is a feeling of hopefulness abroad that this situation will continue. But if 1928 is to prove a successful year for our Western farmers they must themselves take time by the forelock and lay the foundation of that success. It is now when the snow is on the ground and the temperature hovers around the zero point that the first step, toward securing good crops in the fall of the year must be taken.

Later in the year eventually, and especially the farmers, will look anxiously for adequate rainfall at the right time, for bright sunny days, frost-free weather, and a rising tide of immigration. ## Predicts New Airship Service

Ship Will Leave Montreal and Britain Hill, Says Commander

There will be a regular airship service between England and Montreal, similar to the present shipping service and perfectly practical from the flying point of view, declared Commander Burney, President of the British Airship Service, in an exclusive interview with the British United Press recently.

He added that he was going to the United States and Canada to arrange a preliminary flight for the R-100, said that after a demonstration flight it was proposed to establish a regular trans-Atlantic service.

Commander Burney said the airships will have each side of the Atlantic ocean daily. For instance, if one of the air liners leaves England on Monday, it will arrive at Montreal or New York on Wednesday night, while the other air liner will leave for England on Wednesday, so they will pass each other in mid-Atlantic. The fares will be from $5 to 125, according to the class of service.

stating, Montreal, which is enroute a morning mail, will be the centre of airship traffic.

The date for the start of the service has not yet been settled, but the proposed flight of the R-100 will be in next July and it is probable that regular sailings will begin a few months later.

Commander Burney said he was going to consult financial interests in Canada and the United States in connection with promotion of the scheme.

Things That Make Life

Using Our Initiative Is Better Than Being Helped

Anything that checks initiative, that prevents us from taking charge of our own lives and facing up resolutely to our own duty and responsibility can never by any chance be of much help. Millions of lives have been spoiled and have drifted on into emptiness and disappointment because people have waited to be shown or directed or helped instead of venturing forth heroically to work out their own destiny. The things that any one can help you to are few and far indeed, but the things that you can do for yourself are the things that make life.

Base At Singapore Nearly Completed

British Has Thruout Water Area Into

In 1925 the naval base site at (detestable name of location on Singapore Island) was still much as it had been since the Chinese sea slippers strayed a way through the Johore straits—a wilderness of swamps, with a evidence of human occupation other than a native village and the ubiquitous Chinese shopkeeper. People were afraid to venture into the swamp except for those who made a specialty of hunting crocodiles. For them the site was a veritable paradise because the swamps on that side of Singapore Island are full of the hideous monsters.

Survey and preliminary work generally had been in progress some time, but up to the end of 1925 there were no visible signs of activity by the naval authorities. It required an urge of imagination to conjure up mental pictures of battle cruisers anchored in those mangrove-fringed salt-tides. About the end of 1925 actual construction work began on the naval base.

Today in place of the mangrove swamps lies one of the most healthy townships of the East. Buildings of all kinds have sprung up—there are no more swamps—they have all been drained. Numerous officers' clubs. Workshops of many descriptions are in full operation. A branch line of the Federal Malay States railway has been constructed on the site. The foreman for a mile is thickly covered with activities of many descriptions. Immense dredges are at work along the shore preparing the docks. The same machine that was used in building the Southampton docks has been brought out by the naval authorities to use in building the naval base.

At the naval base site 600 acres have been set aside for an aerodrome. The work of putting the place in shape is rapidly being completed.

Requires Act Of Parliament

Suggestion Made That It Be Enacted

Sir Henry Maddocks, borough magistrate of Birmingham, suggests that all conscription regulations should be made by act of parliament, instead of men who fill in the war, be expanded from the research which, however, would not be an act of parliament because the records stand together, even when papers are granted.

Sir Henry mentions in this connection, having received a letter from a brother of a man who was killed in the war, the brother asking for evidence of conviction against his deceased brother.

Those who dispense justice, Sir Henry adds, take into consideration the service an accused person has given to his king and country, but sometimes they were driven to the conclusion that the accused seemed to regard his service as a license to commit offense, with impunity.

Bill-Of-Miss Farming

There appears to be no doubt that the day of the mid-late hot-rod farmer is passing. We shall have him with us for a good while yet, but gradually he will give place to the man who has an exact knowledge of what he is doing and why he is doing it. When he plants a crop he will know not only what to expect, but how much to expect, and how to get the maximum. It will be the same, too, with feeding stock.

The leading citizen of a village never realizes how insignificant he is until he visits a large city.

"How can you tell a college man?" "We give you, they just won't listen."

Many a man gives up a bad habit after he says trial of it.

"Another visitor robed in my hotel." "You tell the police?" "Yes, this time. The man can't say his bill!"—Journal Am. and Paris.

Thousand-Year-Old Court Case

Action Started In Rome In Eleventh Century Again Up For Trial

A case probably unique in the annals of the law, is down for hearing before the Italian courts. It concerns a dispute nearly a thousand years old. The question which the court will be called upon to decide had its beginning in the people which overtook the people of Southern Italy in the year 1,000, when it was believed that the world would come to an end with the completion of that year.

The conviction that the last day was approaching led many persons and groups "for the good of their souls" to hand over their worldly possessions to the religious congregations, and so it was that the monastic order of St. Titus, which in the year 1,000 had a convent on the top of a high hill between the communes of Ravello and Latona, on the confines of the provinces of Naples and Salerno, found themselves the owners not only of the convent but of the great hill itself.

After the year 1,000 the donors, realizing that the world showed no signs of coming to an end, tried to get their land on the plan that their gift was conditional. For the intervening 927 years the hill, which yields a handsome yearly return through the development of forestry, has continued to be the object of litigation between the heirs of the original grantors of the hill and the monks of Ravello and Latona, each trying to induce the succeeding foreign overlords of the Neapolitan area to reverse whatever decision had been last made.

Aviation and Forest Protection

The growing importance of the part being played by aviation in forest protection against fire in Canada is shown by the large part of the total flying time devoted to forest patrol. In 1925 the total flying time of Royal Canadian Air Force craft devoted to forest operations was 2,276 hours, which 1,132 hours were required for the work of the Forest service, Department of the Interior.

It is easy enough for a millionaire to believe that confinement is better than wealth—for he finds it harder to acquire.

Four New Liners for Canadian Pacific

1. Detail of the "Duchess of Atholl" by Norman Williamson.

2. Her Grace The Duchess of Atholl.

Featuring the 1925 St. Lawrence sailing schedule of the Canadian Pacific, the company has announced the incorporation of two of the four new 20,000-ton "Duchess" class liners now under construction for the company in the Old Country. The development of the St. Lawrence route to England and the Continent has prompted the Canadian Pacific to augment their present trans-Atlantic passenger fleet to this extent.

The first of these four new liners, the "Duchess of Atholl," was launched recently on the Clyde, Scotland, and christened by Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, M.P. The ceremony was attended by a large gathering of Canadian Pacific and ship-building officials. Her Grace, in receiving a silver model of a steering wheel and bookcase as a memento of the occasion, stated that she knew something of the joy with which the huge order

Will Soon Be Independent

Progress Of Indian Prairie Provinces Is Most Encouraging

Indian farmers in the prairie provinces in 1927 raised for round numbers 1,600,000 bushels of grain. Notwithstanding a late spring last year, the Indians seeded 6,453 acres, which was an increase of 2,585 acres over 1926. Over 6,000 acres of new land were broken and the acreage now under cultivation was close to 30,000 acres.

These facts are disclosed in a survey of Indian conditions in the prairie provinces issued under the direction of Dr. Duncan Campbell Scott, deputy superintendent of Indian Affairs. The Indian population of the Dominion totals 105,000 and of these 35,000 dwell in the prairie provinces.

The progress of the Indians of the prairie provinces is most encouraging. Socially and economically their advancement has been steady and it is expected that in the not far distant future they will reach a position of complete self-support and independence.

Canada's Aerial Survey

Over 65,000 Square Miles Were Photographed Last Year

During 1927 a total of 65,000 square miles of territory was photographed by aerial survey in Canada; 26,000 square miles by oblique photography and 39,000 square miles by vertical photography. The oblique photographs number 12,346 and the vertical 4,240.

The aerial survey work was carried out in eight of the nine provinces of Canada.

Found His Opportunity

There are more ways than one to serve a summons. When Thurston, the magician, tried a committee from the audience one day a process server who had been trying in vain for days to serve Thurston with a legal process walked up to the stage and found his opportunity.

from the Canadian Pacific had been received on the Clyde. The Canadian Pacific, she said, had entered the Atlantic service only in 1923 and had already spent $100,000,000 in British capitalizing yards. No person, she added, could visit Canada and not be impressed with the tremendous activities of the Canadian Pacific and what that company has meant in building up the Dominion.

With the launching of this vessel, she registered a total of 72,000 tons have been launched for the Canadian Pacific during the month of March and November. This is regarded as a record for a private company. The four new liners will be each of 20,000 tons gross register. In addition to this passenger liner or the total tonnage for the two vessels is made up by five express cargo steamers of the "Bluenose" class, and the "Princess Blanche" now 2,000-ton coastal steamer for the Pacific Coast service of the company.

A Tremendous Task

Everybody Finds It Hard To Form New Habits

Probably most people make new resolutions on the coming of a new year, but they are hard to keep. New resolutions are an admission that we do something we feel we ought not to do, but we do something we ought to do better. There is no more appropriate time for making these promises to ourselves, and so, in a momentary burst of moral righteousness, these resolutions are made with the full intention to continue throughout the year as we begin.

But these New Year resolutions are hard to keep. They are hard to keep because they are made under artificial circumstances. Old habits are difficult to get rid of. The person making a New Year resolution decides all of a sudden to change the course of a stream which has been in a fixed bed for one year, five years, or even a lifetime.

The person who makes these promises sets himself a tremendous task. The older the habits the harder the job to cast away old ways and begin anew.

About the best that one can do is to look determination with hope; to try not to achieve the best that is in us; resolved to meet bad fortune or good fortune in a spirit of resignation and restraint. The man who can control himself is in the strongest position to meet the best of things during the year, and whatever lies before him he should attempt with the courage of a man who is the captain of his soul.

What Religion Is

Religion is the link between the finite mind and the infinite. It is the escape of the human heart from an overbearing materialism in the wilderness of mere matter and force. It is the reliance of the human will, longing and striving to be good, upon the eternal will, perfect in righteousness and power. It is man's conscious relation and kinship to his unseen, unsearchable creator.

Hints For Book Borrowers

Rules Which Ensure Books Being Returned In Good Order

When you borrow books from friends:

Keep them apart from your own, between a pair of book-enders, perhaps, on a bookshelf or bureau, so that they remain in sight and mind.

Put paper or linen covers on those with handsome and easily soiled bindings while they are in your keeping.

Have a proper book-marker for the book in course of being read. Don't turn down the corners of the pages, or slip any bulky thing which comes handy like a pencil, salt tin, or other book, into the place you want to keep, and so spoil the shape and mar the binding.

Don't read the volume too close to the fire, bend back the covers until the book is heated, or permit the children to examine the pictures if contents with grubby fingers and indifference to where it is.

Don't read it at meal times propped up against the teapot, use it as a stand for cups and glasses, garnish it with butter and jam, or just a flash of the eye or a curling of the little finger may show the tanager. Soiled intelligence consists in leaving to see and understand little seemingly insignificant movements of one's neighbors.

Good Potato Seed For Good Yields

Good Certified Seed May Be Obtained In All Provinces

In potatoes, as in all farm needs, it is worth while to know that one is getting good seed. The tuber itself may look desirable in every way and yet it may harbor weaknesses that prevent it yielding a really good crop. Diseases of one kind or another take heavy toll of the crop. It is important, therefore, to be assured of the healthfulness of the potatoes that may be selected this winter for planting in the spring. What has now come to be known as certified seed potatoes, that is potatoes reasonably free from disease, can be secured in all of the provinces from growers that have had their fields inspected by departments of agriculture officials who are able to recognize desirable conditions. As an evidence of the value of certified seed, it is stated in Pamphlet #4 of the Department of Agriculture, that while the average yield of potatoes in Canada in 1926 was estimated at 142.5 bushels per acre, average yields on more than 10,000 acres entered for certification were approximately 200 bushels per acre, many growers reporting yields exceeding 400 bushels to the acre. This pamphlet is particularly useful to those who would grow potatoes for seed purposes. Copies may be secured from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

Prominent Men Who Are Superstitious

Winston Churchill and Earl of Balfour "Touch Wood"

Winston Churchill, the versatile Chancellor of the Exchequer, "touched wood" during a recent speech on "I don't want to prophesy," he said—then, lifting the corner of the Union Jack which covered the chairman's table, he touched wood, "that is going to get better."

This may have been one of the playful touches for which Churchill is noted, but someone with vast knowledge of cabinet law has come forward with a dossier of the chancellor's superstitions. At one time he had in his house several articles which bore the number "15," and he had them all stored. Mr. Churchill also declines to turn back to recover a forgotten article when once he has laid a building, according to the authority. Furthermore, he can never tolerate thirteen persons at table. He usually contrives to get another guest when this emergency arises.

The prime minister does not share Churchill's tendency towards the superstitious, but it is recorded that as a child little Stanley Baldwin was carried up to the top of the house and laid near the roof, to insure that his "roof" in the world.

Mr. Churchill, however, has a superstition which is "touch wood" superstition. No less a person than the Earl of Balfour once during the war, when he was of first level of the ministry, solemnly touched the wooden dispatch box on the table of the House of Commons when referring to the fact that no naval disaster had befallen the country.

How To Read People

Only Way Is To Take Notice Of What They Do

It would be a very convenient thing if we could read people by just looking at them and noting the kind of nose they have, or the shape of their ears. There have been many men in the world who have thought they could tell what people like by looking at them. They were going to do by looking at the lines in the palms of their hands, or feeling the bumps on their heads, or noticing whether they had me or little ears, or eyes set far apart or close together, they can't do it. They think they can. There is no life-line on the hand and no curiosity jump on the hand. Dig ears are not an indication of generosity or little eye indicate deceitfulness.

We must learn to read people by noticing what they do, not by what they say. It is not enough to read what they say. It is not enough to be violent or big in order to give people away. It is not necessary for a man to knock you down to show that he is a strong man. Just a flash of the eye or a curling of the little finger may show his temper. Soiled intelligence consists in leaving to see and understand little seemingly insignificant movements of one's neighbors.

Word Should Be Barred

Doctors Say "Incurable" Should Be Removed From Dictionary

"Incurable is a word that should be removed from the dictionary," says Dr. Ernest P. Ross, director of the Montefiore Hospital, at the Minnesota Conference. And his utterance will go home to a million hearts.

What physicians do not know the best of them are truly confusing. The verdict that carries with it despite eliminates the hope which is crushed the will to get well, which is sometimes of more use than medicine and it is often around it to render such a verdict is to assume a grave and unfeeling responsibility.

Answering All Questions

"Yes," "Who," "No," "Born," "Yes," "No," "Where?" "Russia," "Why do you leave Russia?" "I couldn't bring it with me." "Where were your ancestors born?" "Only at one place." "Where?" "Bates." "Where is Washington?" "It's the head." "I mean the capital of the United States?" "The head is all in Europe." "Now, do you promise to support the Constitution?" "Me? I don't care if I've got a wife and six children to support."

Mr. and Mrs. Hostland and family are leaving in a few days for the northern part of the province where they expect to take up farming. The children are at present visiting their grand parents at Alderton.

All the way from the laboratory of Thomas A. Edison at Orange, New Jersey, came a letter, which was from Mr. Edison's office, stating that the famous inventor of the phonograph the motion picture, the incandescent light, and other devices how familiar to everyone but unknown before Edison came, had been much amused and interested in reading a newspaper clipping sent him by the Winnipeg. The newspaper clipping had been taken from the Free Press "Looking Backward" column of November 22. Under the heading, "Fifty Years Ago Today," the following item had been reprinted from the Manitoba Press of November 22, 1877: "A New Jersey electrician by the name of Edison is said to have invented an instrument by which the sound of the human voice can be reproduced on a record and the tones reproduced at any subsequent period; people, however, regard this extraordinary rumor as the veriest bomb."
